PUSH THE BUTTON

Is this a dream
I feel the earth beneath my feet
The hunter is my name
Yes I am the hunter
(Push the button)
We force it down
Put on a play to hide our shame
No wonder we're in chains
Time to feed the hunger
(Push the button)

DARK WATER

(This poem inspired the song)
I thought I heard your footsteps coming up the stairs,
But it was only my heart pounding in my ears

I thought I saw your light flicker in the window
But It was only my eyes reflecting my despair

And alone I will wander through the dark dark water Until I collect every shattered piece of my broken heart
And wait for a reason to exist again

CAN'T STOP WHAT'S COMING

Can't stop what's coming
Can't stop what's coming over me
I can't stop what's coming
I dream of falling into you like sleep
not to feel, just sleep

LOCKDOWN

I can feel you calling me
I can see the cracks between these walls
But this pain
I choke on the words as they rise in me
To survive, I lock down

I can feel you calling me
I can taste the poison in your heart
But these dreams
Blurring the line between war and peace
To survive, I lock down

Say the words
I can't face the world
If I could say the words
Everything would be broken still
We are broken

I can feel you calling me
I can see the cracks between these walls
But this pain
I choke on the words as they rise in me
To survive, I lock down

Say the words
I can't face the world
If I could say the words
Everything would be broken still and I know why
